2. Read the text and tick the correct sentences.

Glastonbury Festival is the largest open-air music festival in the UK. Artists from around the world perform at the festival.

The festival is held at Worthy Farm, six miles east of the town of Glastonbury. It takes place at the end of June, but not each year. Sometimes the festival takes a break to give both the land and the locals a chance to rest.

Back in 1970, organiser Michael Eavis opened his farm to 1,500 people. The festival was called Worthy Farm Pop Festival, not Glastonbury. The ticket cost just £1 and included free milk. Almost 45 years later, the tickets cost £238 and over 170,000 visitors gather to celebrate music, art, and culture.
